

Sean

Thanksgiving

In North America we celebrate Thanksgiving every year. My family and I have many traditions on this holiday. We celebrate Thanksgiving with family and friends. In the past, we celebrate with all of our family, and friends. They usually all come to our house where my mom, dad, and some aunts and uncles prepare the dinner. One of the most important parts of Thanksgiving is the meal. On the table are many dishes including: Turkey, gravy, potatoes, maybe fish, steak, stuffing, deserts, and some other foods of your nationality. Like if you're Irish you would have many potatoes and corn beef. If you're Spanish you could have dips like salsa and chips. So many traditions also put different foods from there nationality on the table.

This year we tried a new tradition. Instead of my mom and dad took a break of cooking, and we had a party at a place. The people who worked at the Athletic Club catered for us. So they made the food for us.

Also Thanksgiving is a time for thanks to everyone and for our life. Where we pray for the people that can't celebrate a Thanks giving.

These are some of the traditions me and my family celebrate on Thanksgiving. Where we thank God that we our celebrating a thanksgiving meal with our family and friends.

Happy
Thanksgiving